During the first couple of weeks, you can try different classes with no extra charge, but should be settled in by week three. Classes may change around and/or if one class doesn't go, we might put in another class in its place. We also want to try to keep the same classes, as last year, together so we can keep advancing. If you have missed a year, you will have to almost start from the beginning and if you catch up you can advance to the class you were in the year before.
